She has been involved in High Five Mentoring, the Raptor Forum at NMU, the 2018 Sugar Bush, and meetings about ways to help the community such as community garden ideas, planting trees, and native plants. She has worked for the Tribe’s Natural Resource Department since 2016 — for the KBIC Watershed Project for one year, and as a Fisheries Technician for two years. She plans to attend Keweenaw Bay Ojibwa Community College to complete her basic classes and then wants to attend East Carolina University and major in Marine Biology.

Following a delicious meal, Lynn Haataja, Vice-Chairperson of the Education Committee, introduced the guest speaker, Isabelle Helene Welsh. Isabelle is a member of the Keweenaw Bay Indian Community, and she is also eligible for membership with the Standing Rock/Sioux Tribe. She is a lifelong resident of Baraga and has worked in a variety of jobs providing advocacy and hope to community members. She served as an AmeriCorps member from 1997-1998 at the C.J. Sullivan Elementary School, developing and organizing an after-school program for area youth. She worked for over 15 years for the Keweenaw Bay Indian Community in education and child welfare. She served on the Tribal Council from 2009-2011. She is currently employed at the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services as the Indian Outreach Worker for Baraga, Houghton, and Keweenaw Counties. Along with her work, she also serves as a caregiver for her brother, Michael.
She is passionate about working with the Native American population to empower and instill hope for the betterment of their future.

Isabelle Welsh said, “According to the National Center for Education Statistics, in the school year 2015-2016, the graduation rate was 72% for American Indian/Alaska Native students; lower than the national average of 84% for all students and lower than Asian/Pacific Islander, White, Hispanic, and Black students.

The status dropout rate for American Indian/Alaska Native students was highest of any other race/ethnicity in 2016. The national average is 6.1% and for American Indian/Alaska Native students it is 11%. (National Center for Education Statistics).

Why am I sharing these statistics with you? Because you beat the odds. You completed. Your tribe and your family are here to honor you tonight for graduating from high school. For some of you, you may be the first in your family to earn a high school diploma. Are you going to college? Again, for some of you, you may be the first in your family to attend college, to complete college. What are your plans? Hopes? Dreams? Now is the time to not only reflect upon your achievements but look towards what is ahead for you. Statistically speaking, the American Indian population has high mortality rates and low success rates than most other races/ethnicities. But if you have beaten the odds, Why stop now?

I graduated from high school in 1993. Neither of my parents had completed high school; Without a doubt in my mind, I knew I would graduate from high school. My greatest motivation came from the people who said and treated me like I wasn’t capable of doing it. I wanted to prove to them that I wasn’t going to become another statistic. What were my obstacles? Alcohol, depression, suicide. A study that was just published in 2016 by Colorado State University, stated ‘Reservation-based American Indian Students are at high risk for substance abuse compared with U.S. youths in general.’ Furthermore, ‘The harm associated with high rates of use and early initiation for American Indian youths include increasing rates of use in early and later adulthood, higher risk of developing a substance use disorder, and more alcohol-related problems, including alcohol attributed death. American Indian and Alaskan Native youths are more likely to need treatment for a substance use problem than all other US racial/ethnic group.’

An Indian Health Service study in 2012 stated that Native American youth are three-and-a-half times more likely to commit suicide compared to other groups. According to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, historical trauma and adverse childhood experiences have led to high rates of depression, other mental illnesses, and high rates of suicide for Native American youth.

How did I survive, and how did I heal? I believe it is important to know your history...your family history, the history of your tribe, and the history of American Indians. To know who you are is to understand who you are. Learn from your history.

For me, the journey to self-discovery began with a class called Native American Experiences that I took my first year at Northern Michigan University. I like to call it the crash course into Native American history, full speed ahead. I learned about many achievements but look towards what is ahead for you.

I took a language course, I started participating in cultural groups and meeting powerful Indian women who taught me about talking circles, sweat lodges, and renewal programs.

I sat down next to Don Coyhis, Founder of White Bison, in a talking circle. He shared a quote from Ghandi. ‘Be the change you want to see.’ Mr. Coyhis also shared in the talking circle that I would be a leader in my community.

I was 19-years-old at the time.

About 10 years ago, I attended a conference on Historical Trauma for Native American people. I listened to elders share stories on boarding schools, and being punished for just being Indian. So many Indian people of all ages gathered at this conference eager to learn about historical trauma that there was standing room only in many of the breakout sessions. During their stories, there was healing not only for the storyteller but for the listener.

I am just an ordinary person, no better than anyone in this room. But I believe in being the change I want to see. I want to beat the statistics. I believe you do too.

I could go on and on about my successes and challenges in my life, some of these experiences would probably resonate with some in this room. We all have a story to tell.

In 2017, I was hired as the Indian Outreach Worker for the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services. It is a standard procedure for every new employee to be oriented for the first few years and in 2018 the new employee orientation will be in July 2018. About a month ago, the Director of the Baraga, Houghton, and Keweenaw Department of Health and Human Services hosted me with a Good Government Coin for Customer Service. The Good Government Coin has a special meaning. The coins are designed to recognize state employees who go above and beyond normal expectations in the spirit of reinvention. The Customer Service Coin recognizes individuals who serve efficiently and perform as exemplified, exceed expectations, and enjoy their job. A co-worker remarked that I am the first employee she knew who received a Good Government Coin so quickly as a new employee.

I want to share the following quote: Pass on what you have learned. Strength. Mastery. But weakness, folly, failure also. Yes, failure most of the time.

NANCY K ARRIVES AT KBIC

The Keweenaw Bay Indian Community graciously accepted a donation of a 55-foot all steel Great Lakes fish tug from David Brooks, a scientist from Chelsea, Michigan. The vessel, the M/V Nancy K, donation came about through the referral of Dr. Guy Meadows, Director of MTU’s Great Lakes Research Center, a partner of our Great Lakes Unmanned Systems Center (GLUSC). The vessel arrived in Pequaming, Michigan, the afternoon of Sunday June 3, 2018. KBIC Members Gavin Loonsfoot and Joe Kirkish asked Mr. Brooks’ crew to bring the vessel from the Soo Locks to its new home in Pequaming.

Jeff Loman, Business Development Officer for the Aankoosiing, Inc. Board, said “This summer we will use the Nancy K to assist with work at the Huron Islands. On June 20th, we are scheduled to meet with an U.S. Fish & Wildlife official to discuss entering into a co-management agreement for the Huron Islands National Wildlife Refuge and Wilderness Area. We will use several unmanned systems to accomplish this work. Our Great Lakes Unmanned Systems (GLUSC) and training company called Keweenaw Warriors were created under Aankoosiing Inc., KBIC’s Economic Development Corporation. Both of these businesses now have a two-year revenue stream and are eligible for Small Business Administration Section 8(a) status. This certification gives these businesses an extensive advantage for federal contracting. The GLUSC is the exclusive distributor of Hydroxonal unmanned water rescue vessels and sonar vessels. We also provide commercial and consumer customers with a variety of unmanned aerial platforms. We also hope to work with KBCC to utilize the vessel as part of a comprehensive commercial fishing certification program and return our people to the water.

“Use of the Huron Islands by our ancestors is well documented, and after the occupation by Europeans, it is rather horrid.” The following quotes are excerpts from Huron Island Lighthouse, Lighthouse.com referencing the use of the Huron Islands.

"The 1860 census lists Hall as a farmer with an Indian wife named Mary and four children: Wyatt, Charles, Frank, and Adelia. During most of his eleven years at Huron Island Lighthouse, Keeper Hall was assisted by his sons Charles and Frank.

"After President Theodore Roosevelt designated the Huron Islands a national bird sanctuary in 1905 to protect large colonies of nesting herring gulls, Keeper Witte, known as "Big Sneed," was appointed a warden to protect the birds. Several times Witte had to use a shotgun to run off Indians, who came to the islands to gather eggs."
The Regular Monthly Tribal Council Meeting was held on Saturday, June 2, 2018, at the Big Bucks Bingo Hall in Baraga, Michigan. President Warren Swartz, Jr., presided over the meeting with Jennifer Misegan as a member. Gary F. Loonsfoot, Tori Minton, Doreen Blaker, Robert R.D. Curtis, Jr., Fred Dakota, Randall Haataja, Michael F. LaFernier, Sr., Rodney Loonsfoot, and Elizabeth Mayo present. Senator G. Loonsfoot was not present.

President Swartz shared numerous Thank You's and For Your Information items addressed to Council.

Secretary Susan J. LaFernier gave the Secretary's Report (page four) and CEO Larry Denomie III gave the Treasurer's Report (page eight). Council approved the Department Head Reports for March and April 2018.

Under recognized scheduled delegation/individuals: Ojibwa Senior Citizens’ Board President, Debra Williamson, Council or two delegates. Ojibwa senior citizens and representatives are requesting the possibility of allowing Tribal Employees the opportunity of using educational leave up to four hours from their employment to assist the elders in the Pasty Sale fundraisers. Motion by Jennifer Misegan to approve up to four hours of volunteer leave for all tribal employees 55-years and older once a month to work at the Pasty Sale with supervisor approval, supported by Susan J. LaFernier, Ten supported (Misegan, S. LaFernier, Minton, Blaker, Curtis, Dakota, Haataja, M. LaFernier, R. Loonsfoot, Mayo), 0 opposed, 0 abstained, one absent (G. Loonsfoot), motion carried.

Debra Williamson brought forward Ojibwa Senior’s concerns about the Ojibwa being left out for collaboration for the Pension Program. Council immediately put the topic to rest and stated the rumor is false. There has never been any plan to utilize the money put aside for the Senior Pension Program. Currently the fund is nearing nine million and is accumulating interest. Actually, the Senior Pension is being distributed out of Casino fund. The question of what the Senior Pension monthly payments may be directed from the Senior Pension Fund interest instead of the Casino fund where it is distributed from currently. That would be one of the very last things to do if the need came to make a Casino Loan payment.

Under new business: Elizabeth Mayo presented Resolutions (KBIC-2018-020 Tribal Maternal Infant and Early Childhood Home Visiting Program. The Keweenaw Bay Indian Community is eligible to participate in the Administration for Children and Families (ACF) Tribal Maternal, Infant, and Early Childhood Home Visiting Program, and wishes to be part of a competitive submittal of the tribal program to the ITC - Tribal Construction and 10% of the Council is to allow Tribal Members free sand for residential purposes (not commercial) households that wish to hire a truck and loader to haul it. The CEO will draft a policy, so Public Works can unlock the gate when sand is requested.

Treasurer Doreen Blaker presented two Resolutions for approval. Council held a work session last week and decided on the amounts Resolutions are required at this point. Motion by Jennifer Misegan to approve Resolution KB-018-2018 and KB-019-2018, the 2% for Baraga and Marquette Counties, supported by Michael F. LaFernier, Sr., Nine supported (Misegan, S. LaFernier, Blaker, Curtis, Dakota, Haataja, M. LaFernier, R. Loonsfoot, Mayo), 0 opposed, one abstained (Minton), one absent (G. Loonsfoot), motion carried.

Elizabeth Mayo brought forward a request of a tribal member who is building a garage and is looking to find someone to haul sand for him. Tribal Construction and Development does not offer this service at somewhat of a lesser rate than general contractors do. This is no longer available. There are no contractors who have access to our sand pits. Consensus of the Council is to allow Tribal Members free sand for residential purposes (not commercial) households that wish to hire a truck and loader to haul it. Ten supported (Misegan, S. LaFernier, Minton, Blaker, Curtis, Dakota, Haataja, M. LaFernier, R. Loonsfoot, Mayo), 0 opposed, 0 abstained, one absent (G. Loonsfoot), motion carried.

Susan J. LaFernier indicated there are 165 elders on the pension list. In 2018 there will be 18 elders who will be 80 years old and actually two of them are 90. She suggests that we list the elders’ birthdays in the newsletter. Motion by Doreen Blaker for the Enrollment Department to provide the newsletter a list of our KBIC elder’s names and birthdays who are 80 years and older for the purposes of identifying them, supported by Susan J. LaFernier. Nine supported (Misegan, S. LaFernier, Minton, Blaker, Curtis, Dakota, Haataja, M. LaFernier, R. Loonsfoot), 0 opposed (Mayo), 0 abstained, one absent (G. Loonsfoot), motion carried.

Debra Williamson, Ojibwa Senior Board President, offered to provide short stories to the newsletter in regards to these elders.

Larry Denomie, CEO, indicated we met with Gundlach last week regarding the Casino projects. To keep things moving along, they had made a request to start moving the sand that is lined up to allow the tribe the made a request to start moving the sand that are vacated right now. They want to place them in a temporary location until the basements are ready. Motion by Michael F. LaFernier, Jr. to move the three vacant Chocolay Housing projects (page four) and CEO Larry Denomie III gave the Treasurer's Report (page eight). Council approved the Depart- ment Head Reports for March and April 2018.

Ideas for Summer Activities for Families

Parents, you know what they say about all work and no play, right? So don't let the kids have all the fun. Try out at least a few of these ideas for kids and parents to do together.

Pick your own...whatever. Find a farm with blueberries, strawberries, tomatoes, flowers, etc., and get picking.

Play outside in the rain. Smell the rain on the pavement; splash in puddles; make mud pies.

Make your own rain. Douse everyone with the hose or sprinkler.

Cook out...frequently. Go beyond the burgers. Try veggies or fish. The kids might like them more if they come off the grill!

Make "smores." Chocolate + marshmallow + graham cracker = summer

Camp out. First-timers, try backyard camping.

Camp in. Put the sleeping bags on the floor and have a family slumber party.

Stargaze. Invite friends and make a party of it.

Catch lightning bugs. Then watch them flicker away into the night.

Rearrange the furniture. Give the kid’s graph paper and have them draw out a plan first.

Take family naps together. Parents can snooze too!

Make your own pizza. Try this kid-friendly recipe.

Invite friends over for a game night. Have a kids’ games table and an adult one too.

Go to the demolition derby. Expect to see some major crashes.

See an air show. Hope for no crashes.

Stop to smell the flowers. Go to a botanical garden.

Talk to the animals. Go to the zoo.

Get wet. Go to a water park.

Have a puzzle race. Use 100-piece puzzles and see who finishes first.

Play a card game. Maybe crazy eights, spoons, or poker. Take your pick.

Play a board game. Candyland, Chess, or Monopoly, depending on age and inclination.

HUNTER SAFETY

There will be a hunter safety class offered for individuals 10-years of age and older. Children under the age of 18-years of age will need a parental signature to participate in the class. This class will be three-days, with attendance required ALL three days. Space is limited, so reserve your seat. Registration ends July 18, 2018.

Be a Reading Rock Star!
by Angela Badke—Librarian

You can be a reading rock star this summer! The Ojibwa Community Library is proud to announce our 4th Summer Reading Program. The Library has set a goal to read 60,000 minutes this summer, and we need the community's help!

Our Summer Reading Program kicked-off on June 14th with a registration party and family friendly concert. Our special musical guest was New York children's performer, Danna Banana, who started his U.P. tour at our library with his Suddenly Summer concert. Children and their families enjoyed the energetic and lively concert, which included a variety of songs from original music created by the performer to renditions of more familiar songs such as "Shake it Off" and "You are My Sunshine." All attendees were encouraged to participate in the silly dancing and action portions of each song, and the children were able to play with different instruments and noisemakers. It was a rockin' start to our Summer Reading Program.

The Library would also like to remind everybody that this year's Summer Reading Program and Reading Rock Star challenges are open to all ages—babies to adults. To participate, stop by the library to sign up and pick up your challenge packet, which contains contest rules, reading challenges, and an events calendar. We have prizes for completing each sheet, and each participant will have the opportunity to enter to win grand prize baskets. The deadline to sign up is July 16th!

We are also really excited to reintroduce laminating services. We have a brand new laminator that can process items up to 23 inches wide. The price to laminate is $.50/foot. Please note that customers are expected to stay while we laminate their items.

While you’re in the library, check out our ongoing book sale. New sale items are added often. Hardcover books are $1.00 each, and paperbacks are $.50 a piece.

For more information about the Summer Reading Program, or any library services, please contact us at oclib@up.net or 353-8163. You can also follow us on Facebook for the most up-to-date information.

CEO’s Report for the Month of May 2018

We have had a number of director level changes since my last monthly report. Debbie Williamson retired as the Community Assistance Programs’ Director of which Kim Klopfstein has moved into that position. Kim’s former position, Administrative Specialist, has not been filled to date, but the process of filling it continues. The Personnel Director position, which was held by Hannah Beesley, who has moved over to the casino to fill the HR Director position, is now filled by Beth Fish. The Director of Fire and Emergency Services has been filled, after several postings, by Thomas Chosa, who has been serving as the IT Director. He will officially begin working the new position on June 11, and the IT Director position will be reviewed by the Selection Committee on Monday to consider a promotion from within the department. Patricia “Trish” Koki has retired from her post as the Tribes’ Convenience Stores Manager. Michael Lahir has been serving as the stores’ assistant manager and has been promoted to manager. An internal posting to fill the assistant manager position didn’t work out, so it is posted externally for a two-week period. Lori Ann Sherman was serving as the Natural Resources Department Director. She has moved into the position of President of the Keweenaw Bay Ojibwa Community College. Evelyn Ravindran is currently serving as the interim director, and an internal posting to fill the position through a promotion will be reviewed by the Selection Committee on Monday. Tyler Larson resigned from the position of Social Services Director. The position was posted and recently closed with no one applying. The position will be reviewed by the Selection Committee for recommendations in moving forward. Jacqui Gorcezwicz, who is the Lead Services Specialist, is serving as the interim director until it is filled. Liana Loonsfoot, Team Lead of the OWV programs, has provided her resignation, which will be effective early July. The position is posted, and we hope to fill it prior to her departure.

We continue to work on the Baraga and Marquette casino projects. In my last update, I provided information related to the need to update market studies at the request of our financing partners. Due to the level of our financing partner’s concern, I have taken to get through that process, changes in sub-contractors pricing, and tariffs imposed on steel and other products, the projects once again went over the Community approved budget. The project workgroup met and discussed options to keep the projects moving forward. Two options were presented to Tribal Council for consideration of which one was approved. The option includes phasing in the hotel for the Marquette project at a later time. This provided a savings to the budget which allowed for expansion of the gaming area to increase the number of slot machines, a better location for the entertainment lounge and bar, and shifted more funds to the Baraga project so much needed upgrades could be incorporated into that plan. We have had discussions with our financing partners regarding those changes and are awaiting their approval to move forward. The funding for the Marquette hotel phase will require another vote of the membership. The 76 hotel rooms that were planned will more than likely double. Community meetings to discuss the projects are planned for June 19 at the Bingo Hall in Baraga, June 19 at the Zeba Loonsfoot, Team Lead of the OWV programs, has provided her resigna- tion, which will be effective early July. The position is posted, and we hope to fill it prior to her departure.

The annual Tribal spring cleanup event took place mid-May. Dan Connor, Transfer Station Manager, our Public Works Department staff, and several temporary hires performed curbside pickup on both sides of the bay. A total of 194,600 lbs. were removed which is an increase from last year by about 43,000 lbs. Thank you to all who help keep our reservation clean.

The Tribe’s marina and campground opened for the season last week. A review of the fee schedule took place, and no changes were made.

There has been much debate and some changes made to the employee Drug Free Workplace policy. The random drug testing policy had been suspended for quite some time, then reinstated, but on hold while Council gathered information related to prescribed drugs as well as marijuana. In the end, the Michigan Medicinal Marijuana Card, which hadn’t been recognized, was approved as an acceptable prescription across all forms of testing required under the policy. Employees will be required to provide their card following testing and a positive result for marijuana to avoid the required consequences. Another change included the positions within the government that are required to submit to random drug testing. Tribal Council selected the positions based on criteria that were developed through case law. Council recently passed a motion to also review the casino positions based on the criteria.

Now that summer is upon us, the summer programs will fire up as well. Jodene Rasanan, Youth and Facility Director, and her staff are gearing up for the summer youth work program and the day camp program for the younger kids. Staff will be incorporating trainings into both segments from programs offered through other departments of the Tribe. As you can imagine, with all of the director level changes and vacancies, the CEO’s office has been quite busy and doing our best to ensure services continue to be provided without interruption.

Respectfully submitted,
Larry Denomie III, CEO

American Cancer Society Updates Colorectal Cancer Screening Guidelines

Change comes in response to increasing incidence in young and middle-aged populations.

An updated American Cancer Society guideline says colorectal cancer screening should begin at age 45 for people at average risk, based in part on data showing rates of colorectal cancer are increasing in young and middle-aged populations.

The new recommended starting age is based on colorectal cancer (CRC) incidence rates, results from modeling that demonstrate a favorable benefit-to-burden balance of screening beginning at age 45, and the expectation that screening will perform similarly in adults ages 45 to 49 as it does in adults for whom screening is currently recommended (50 and older).

The American Cancer Society recommends: Adults ages 45 and older with an average risk of colorectal cancer undergo regular screening with either a high-sensitivity stool-based test or a structural (visual) exam, depending on patient preference, and test availability. The change in starting age is designated as a "qualified recommendation," because there is less direct evidence of the balance of benefits and harms, or patients' values and preferences, related to CRC screening in adults aged 45-49 since most studies have only included adults aged 50+. The recommendation for regular screening in adults aged 50 years and older is designated as an "adjusted recommendation," on the basis of the greater strength of the evidence and the judgment of the overall benefit. As a part of the screening process, all positive results on non-colonoscopy screening tests should be followed up with timely colonoscopy. Average-risk adults in good health with a life expectancy of greater than 10 years should continue colorectal cancer screening through age 75. Clinicians should individualize colorectal cancer screening decisions for individuals ages 76 through 85, based on patient preferences, life expectancy, health status, and prior screening history. The new guideline does not prioritize among screening test options. Given the evidence that adults vary in their test preferences, the guidelines development committee emphasized that screening rates could be improved by endorsing the full range of tests without preference.

Colorectal cancer incidence has declined steadily over the past two decades in people 55 and over due to screening that results in removal of polyps, as well as changes in exposure to risk factors, but there has been an increase in colorectal cancers among those under age 50 since 1994. Death rates in this age group have also begun to rise in recent years, indicating that increased incidence rates do not appear to be solely the result of the increased use of colorectal cancer screening. Recent analysis found that adults born around 1990 have twice the risk of colon cancer and four times the risk of rectal cancer compared with adults born around 1950, who have the lowest risk.

One of the most significant and disturbing developments in CRC is the marked increase in CRC incidence—particularly rectal cancer—among younger individuals," conclude the authors [of a study commissioned by ACS]. "While the causes of this increase are not understood, it has been observed in all adult age groups below the age when screening has historically been offered, and is contributing significantly to the burden of suffering imposed by premature CRC mortality. Incorporating this epidemiological shift into contemporary modeling of CRC screening demonstrated that the benefit-burden balance is improved by lowering the age to initiate CRC screening to 45 years. Lowering the starting age is expected to benefit not only the segments of the population who suffer disproportionately from CRC—blacks, Alaska Natives, and American Indians—and also those individuals already diagnosed with colorectal cancer at average risk. Moreover, epidemiological trends in cohorts as young as those born in 1990 suggest that the higher risk of developing CRC will be a persistent concern for decades to come."

Organic Foods: What You Need to Know

Organic food has become very popular. Yet navigating the maze of organic food labels, benefits, and claims can be confusing. Is organic food really better for your mental and physical health? Do GMOs and pesticides cause cancer and other diseases? What do all the labels mean? This guide can help you make better choices about shopping organic, including what to focus on and how to make eating organic more affordable.

What does "organic" mean?

The term "organic" refers to the way agricultural products are grown and processed. While the regulations vary from country to country, in the U.S., organic crops must be grown without the use of synthetic pesticides, bioengineered genes (GMOs), petroleum-based fertilizers, and sewage sludge-based fertilizers.

Organic livestock raised for meat, eggs, and dairy products must have access to the outdoors forage given organic feed. They may not be given antibiotics, growth hormones, or any animal by-products. Organic meat and milk are richer in certain nutrients than conventionally produced food.

Organic food vs. locally-grown food

Unlike organic standards, there is no specific definition for "local food." It could be grown in your local community, your state, your region, or your country. During large portions of the year it is usually possible to find food grown close to home at places such as a farmer's market.

The benefits of locally grown food are:

Financial: Money stays within the local economy. More money goes directly to the farmer, instead of to things like marketing and distribution. Transportation: In the U.S., for example, the average distance a meal travels from the farm to the dinner plate is over 1,500 miles. Produce must be picked while still unripe and then gassed to "ripen" it after transport. Or the food is highly processed in factories using preservatives, irradiation, and other means to keep it stable for transport. Freshness: Local food is harvested when ripe and thus fresher and full of flavor. Small local farmers often use organic methods but sometimes cannot afford to become certified organic. Visit a farmer's market and talk with the farmers to find out which methods they use.

Fruits and vegetables are where the organic label matters most.

According to the Environmental Working Group, a nonprofit organization that analyzes the results of government pesticide testing in the U.S., the following fruits and vegetables have the highest pesticide levels so are best to buy organic: Apples, Sweet Bell Peppers, Cucumbers, Celery, Kale/Collard Greens, Summer Squash, Nectarines (imported), Potatoes, Grapes, Cherry Tomatoes, Peaches, Spinach, Strawberries, and Hot Peppers.

Fruits and vegetables, you don't need to buy organic.

Known as the "Clean 15," these conventionally-grown fruits and vegetables are generally low in pesticides: Sweet Corn, Eggplant, Kiwi, Mango, Cantaloupe, Asparagus, Avocado, Mushrooms, Onion, Cabbage, Grapefruit, Papaya, Pineapple, Sweet Peas (frozen), and Sweet Potatoes.

I want to return to a statistic I shared earlier in my speech...the graduation rate. As stated earlier: According to the National Center for Education Statistics, in the school year 2015-2016, the graduation rate was 72% for American Indian/Alaskan Native students—lower than the national average of 84% and lower than Asian/Pacific Islander, White, Hispanic and Black students. I would like to add that the graduation rate, although lowest among other races, has increased from 65% in 2010 to 2011 to percentage of 72% for the 2015-2016 school year.

Also, for full-time, first-year undergraduate students, 85 percent of American Indian/Alaska Native students received grants in 2011–12. This percentage was higher than the percentages of students of two or more races (73 percent) and Asian (69 percent), Pacific Islander (67 percent), and Asian (63 percent) students who received grants. ~ Submitted by Laurie Denomie, Newsletter Editor
